You Give Kids a Vital School Supply: Food
You Give Kids the Fuel They Need to Thrive!

Dear Friend,

Children across Middle and West Tennessee are beginning a new year of learning. As our community’s educators work to fill students’ minds with knowledge, kids need your help to bolster their healthy development.

I often remember the story of a colleague who visited a childcare center and asked the kids whether they’d had breakfast. Only half raised their hands. One boy said, “It wasn’t my turn.” This is heartbreaking — and unacceptable.

Our future depends on these children, and their hunger must end before learning can begin. That’s why I’m so glad to see the growth you’ve made possible in Second Harvest’s child feeding programs! Kids Cafes, BackPacks, and school pantries are helping students succeed.

Many Tennessee school districts are strapped, so we’re getting more requests than ever for these programs. We can’t progress as a community if our children aren’t getting proper nutrition, which is why I’m so grateful friends like you have stepped up to help feed them.

September is Hunger Action Month — Feeding America’s yearly, nationwide effort to raise awareness about the issue of hunger. We’re counting on our community to volunteer, host food drives, and support our efforts financially. Please join us and spread the word!

We’re also celebrating a significant milestone: Second Harvest’s 40th anniversary! It’s incredible to reflect on all we’ve accomplished together. But at the same time, we know our work isn’t finished.

I hope you’ll take a few minutes to read the stories of hope that you’ve made possible in this back-to-school issue of Table Topics. I’m amazed to see the impact of your generosity. Thank you for changing lives.

Gratefully,

Jaynee K. Day
President & CEO

For children without a stable home, your generosity makes a significant difference. Catherine Knowles sees your gifts in action firsthand: She’s the homeless education program coordinator at Metro Nashville Public Schools.

“The BackPack food is something that’s always consistent for them,” Catherine said. “For children who are moving frequently, knowing they have the security of the food bag every Friday helps a great deal with feeling more settled, and lessens the anxiety they might experience.”

As you can see, your gifts are improving the lives of our community’s most vulnerable children. Thank you for making this important work possible.

For children without a stable home, your generosity makes a significant difference. Catherine Knowles sees your gifts in action firsthand: She’s the homeless education program coordinator at Metro Nashville Public Schools.

“The security of the food bag every Friday helps a great deal.”

“The kids are highly motivated and very aware of wanting to provide for themselves and not be a burden on anyone else,” Catherine said.

With help from friends like you, Second Harvest delivers food every week, and student volunteers sort and package it for delivery to Nashville area schools.

Beyond keeping kids fed, the BackPack Program helps struggling families save money for other expenses, like rent — many live in weekly rental motels.

BackPacks also build trust between parents and administrators, improve school attendance, and provide stability for children in uncertain situations.

“The BackPack food is something that’s always consistent for them,” Catherine said. “For children who are moving frequently, knowing they have the security of the food bag every Friday helps a great deal with feeling more settled, and lessens the anxiety they might experience.”

The No. 1 Easiest Way to Do Your Part
Monthly Giving Makes a Difference

Monthly donors like Barbara Sullivan aren’t just kindhearted and devoted — they’re also practical thinkers. Autopay is easiest for her and it reduces Second Harvest’s overhead, meaning more resources for hungry people. And in the end, that’s what it’s all about.

“Every time it pops up on my statement I’m reminded how much good work is going on there,” Barbara said. “That monthly contribution reminds me that my neighbors are hungry and I am doing a tiny bit to help.”

Barbara has been a Second Helpings donor since 2014, and she recently upgraded her monthly gift amount. Many of our monthly donors are upgrading to $40 a month in honor of our 40th anniversary. At that rate, in one year you’d provide almost 2,000 meals to people in need.

Join Barbara as a Second Helpings monthly donor at secondharvestmidtn.org/monthly.

Anne Holt and News 2 Champion the Fight Against Hunger

News 2 WKRN first took up the fight against hunger more than 35 years ago. Anne Holt, news anchor at the time, remembers learning about our efforts and joining the cause as spokesperson for the station’s Food 2 Families program.

Food 2 Families worked to raise awareness about local hunger and encourage the community to get involved by donating food. Today, the program has expanded to local schools, teaching children about the scope of hunger while making a difference. Each fall, dozens of schools participate in a friendly competition to collect the most donated food.

“It gave us a priceless interaction with our communities…the ability to educate our children, and educate a whole new generation about hunger,” Anne said.

Championing hunger relief was natural for Anne. She grew up as one of 13 children on a farm. Because her family grew what they ate, they understood the true value of fresh, healthy food.

Although she’s never experienced hunger personally, Anne says her gratitude for her good fortune motivates her to ensure others have access to the food they need. She was honored to learn Second Harvest dedicated one of our sorting rooms to her work — the very room where food collected through Food 2 Families is sorted.

Anne remembers that in the early days, Second Harvest wasn’t much more than a closet handing out emergency food. She’s thrilled to see how our programs and services have expanded over the years, and she credits the growth to our community’s caring heart.

“One person or one organization can solve on their own — we have to work together,” she says. “We are very fortunate to live in a giving community.”

Our sincere thanks go out to Anne, News 2, and advocates across Middle and West Tennessee who bring awareness to our cause and make hunger relief possible. You change lives every day!

Are you 70½ or older?

Turn that taxed distribution into a tax-free donation

Many of our donors like to leave us a gift in their wills, and we’re always so grateful to be part of their legacy. But few realize there’s a tax benefit by donating retirement income now. If you’re 70½ and older you can give to Second Harvest directly from your IRA, and avoid paying the tax that’s normally due.

“We believe in the work of Second Harvest and decided we wanted to give a larger donation than we had in the past,” said Carol VanKirk. “In talking with our financial advisor, we were told that giving the Required Minimum Distribution from our IRA would be a smart decision for everyone.”

“By sending the money directly from our investment account to Second Harvest, we avoided paying any tax because it was not considered income. Second Harvest received the full monetary amount with no tax deducted – a win-win!”

To learn more about setting up a Charitable IRA Distribution to Second Harvest, call Marian Eidson at (615) 627-1564.
A School Pantry’s Shelves are Full Thanks to Your Support

“We had children sneaking food from the cafeteria because they were so hungry,” said Rebecca Hulse, family involvement specialist at Tusculum Elementary School in Nashville. “We realized on weekends they weren’t getting food unless we were sending it home.”

Rebecca runs the school pantry at Tusculum in partnership with Second Harvest and with help from Mary Guidry, the school’s family resources director. Every Tuesday, a Second Harvest truck delivers fresh food to the school for Rebecca to share with about 45 students.

The pantry bags include meat, fruits, vegetables, grains, and other healthy items. Rebecca says she appreciates being able to fill empty tables, as well as build relationships among faculty, students, and their families.

Many of the families Rebecca serves relocated to the Nashville area as refugees. Tusculum students hail from more than 30 different countries. With the help of interpreters, Rebecca connects families with school supplies, clothing, and medical assistance, as well as groceries.

Several kids are enrolled in a program called Students with Interrupted Formal Educations. Rebecca says having regular access to healthy food has brought stability to these children’s lives. Good nutrition also improves behavior, academic performance, and more.

“Rebecca said the school pantry is possible because of your generosity, and she’s so grateful you choose to give.

“You’ve allowed us to feed more children and meet the needs of more families,” she said. “You’re making such a difference in their lives!”

Having enough to eat seems so simple, but it is essential — especially for growing children. We appreciate your partnership!

“You’re making such a difference in their lives!”

TUSCULUM ELEMENTARY STUDENTS AND THEIR FAMILIES ARE SO GRATEFUL FOR YOU.
After school each weekday, students can sit down to a full, healthy meal at the West Nashville Dream Center. Darah Kerpka runs the Kids Cafe program at the center, supported by a partnership between Preston-Taylor Ministries and Second Harvest. She said it’s been wonderful to see how good nutrition affects kids’ well-being.

“A lot of times, especially in the classroom, I notice such a behavior difference when a child has eaten versus when they haven’t,” she said.

The West Nashville Dream Center provides tutoring, counseling, exercise with a personal trainer, cooking classes, and one-on-one time with mentors who help the children set goals and identify dreams for the future. Having a balanced meal means kids can concentrate on the center’s other important programs.

Before partnering with Second Harvest and gaining access to the resources you help provide, Darah said the center could only give the kids a small snack. She knows some children would go to bed hungry if it weren’t for the evening meal the Center now offers. It gives her peace of mind to be able to feed the kids.

Many of the kids she serves are independent and look after themselves and their siblings while their parents are at work. Your gifts give them the fuel they need to focus, do well in school, and learn how to break the cycle of poverty in the future.

We hope you understand just how important your gifts are to your community’s children and their caregivers. There are parents, grandparents, and guardians across Middle and West Tennessee who struggle to fill their family’s tables. You help so much. Thank you!
