Thank You for Helping Feed Families in Need!

You Help Neighbors Make Ends Meet

Veteran Thanks You For Your Gifts

You’re Feeding Hope This Holiday Season!
Letter from the President & CEO

Thank You for Helping Feed Families in Need

Dear Friend,

Family, food, and gathering together. My best holiday memories include all three — usually in abundance. The holidays can be such a magical time of year.

But for 1 million Tennesseans who face hunger every day, the holidays are little more than empty days passing on a calendar. For them, just having enough to eat every day — holiday or not — is a struggle.

Thankfully, you’re giving your hungry neighbors something to celebrate this holiday season through your generous gifts to Second Harvest Food Bank of Middle Tennessee.

It’s because of you that veterans like Barry have warm, nutritious meals to share with their families. On page 7, read about how your donations are helping him and his elderly mother.

And your continued partnership means that many more children, families, and seniors will enjoy holiday meals this season, and nutritious food throughout the year to come.

As Second Harvest wraps up our 40th anniversary year, I’m thankful I’ve been here for 30 of those years to see all that can be accomplished with your help.

I’ve watched Second Harvest grow, adapt, and innovate to better serve the community. And most importantly, I’ve witnessed the compassion you’ve poured out on behalf of your neighbors in need — during the holidays and all year long.

For all you’ve already done, and for what you continue to do on behalf of your hungry neighbors, thank you.

Gratefully,

Jaynee K. Day
President & CEO

Mary only sought help to feed her family three times in the last two years. But for this single mother, it’s made all the difference.

“I don’t think that people would get by in life without this,” Mary says.

What a wonderful thing you’ve done, to help parents like Mary fill their holiday tables with healthy food for their children.

We met Mary and her children, 7-year-old Isabella and 8-year-old Emmanuel, at the Dickson County Help Center, a Second Harvest Partner Agency. Mary says it’s a big stress reliever just knowing help is there when they need it.

At these tougher times, Mary wonders, “How am I going to make ends meet?”

Which is why Mary especially wants to thank you today. She thinks the community as a whole would be “really bad off” without the food you help provide through Second Harvest.

“Thank you and God bless you,” Mary says to you, with her children smiling by her side.

Your gifts are helping hungry neighbors like Mary feed their families through the holiday season and beyond. Thank you for your compassion during this season of sharing!

“Thank you and God bless you.”

Mary with her two children, Isabella and Emmanuel, at Dickson County Help Center.

Family Motivated by Humble Beginnings, Faith
Monthly Giving Makes a Difference

William Haynes was raised by a hardworking, single mother. They were poor, but no matter what, the first thing she did every payday was go grocery shopping.

“Consequently, I have never known hunger,” William said.

“If there is one thing I can do to honor my mother’s memory and legacy, it is to make sure that I can help someone have food.”

Davidson County residents William and his wife, Jacqueline, are enthusiastic Second Helpings monthly donors. Supporting Second Harvest was a family decision. Their humble beginnings, life experiences, and faith motivate them to feed hungry people.

“I don’t have much, but I can always find a few dollars to share so that at least one person can eat,” he said. “God blesses us to bless others.”

MS. CHEAP’S PENNY DRIVE
NOVEMBER - JANUARY
Ms. Cheap wants your loose change! During the past nine years, the fund drive led by Mary Hance (aka Tennessean columnist Ms. Cheap) has raised more than $475,000 — the equivalent of 1.9 million meals!
Your company, church group, school, or family can pick up penny drive cans at these locations:
* Pinnacle Financial Partners
* Wilson Bank & Trust bank branches
* Second Harvest Food Bank in Metro Center
Most groups turn the Penny Drive into a little friendly competition. For example, last year a family offered an ice cream party to the first St. Bernard Academy homeroom to fill its can. Logistics firm V. Alexander & Co. rewarded Penny Drive donations with a fun perk — blue jean Fridays. At just six years old, Snow Bernard collected donations in lieu of gifts at her birthday party (and raised $323.35)!
Ms. Cheap’s Penny Drive shows when we pool together a little here and a little there, we can make a big impact.
The 10th annual Ms. Cheap’s Penny Drive is underway, but it’s not too late to join in! You have until Jan. 31 to turn in your cans. Learn more at secondharvestmidtn.org/pennydrive.
Thanks to sponsors The Tennessean, Pinnacle Financial Partners, Wilson Bank and Trust, and Kroger.

GIVING TUESDAY
NOVEMBER 27
#GIVINGTUESDAY®
Every November we have a day for giving thanks, and two days for getting great retail deals. Now, we have Giving Tuesday, a global day dedicated to giving back. On Tuesday, November 27, please support Second Harvest’s Giving Tuesday Virtual Food Drive. Be part of this new holiday tradition by helping the thousands of people in Middle Tennessee who are suffering from hunger this winter. Look for an email and social media posts about ways you can help.

NEW YEAR, NEW YOU
MAKE VOLUNTEERING YOUR RESOLUTION
We’ve all done it: Made a New Year’s resolution we couldn’t fulfill. It feels crummy, like you broke your promise to yourself. But often it just means you set unrealistic goals. This year why not set yourself up to succeed? If your goal in 2019 is to help others, get more involved in your community, or make new friends, Second Harvest can help.
Volunteering is deeply meaningful and rewarding, and a great way to beat the post-holiday blues. Most nonprofits have a volunteer shortage in January and February, including us.
We have a variety of opportunities in the warehouse, as well as administrative tasks, volunteer leadership roles, and food distribution in the community.
With our online volunteer calendar, it’s easy to sign up for a single shift or multiple shifts at the same time if your goal is to volunteer once a week or once a month. Go to secondharvestmidtn.org/act/volunteer and get plugged in now, so you’re ready to meet 2019 head on!

Thank You for Feeding Hope This Holiday Season!

MS. CHEAP WANTS YOUR PENNIES!
(And your nickels, dimes, and dollars, too.)
PITCH IN YOUR CHANGE FOR SECOND HARVEST.

Volunteerism: A ‘Labor of Love’ for Barbara Turner

What started as a simple way to get involved at her children’s school quickly turned into a passion for Barbara Turner. Barbara’s children all collected food for elementary school food drives. The collected food was donated to Second Harvest, where Barbara’s family often went to help deliver the donations.

As her commitment to ending hunger grew, Barbara and her husband, Rick, became more involved at Second Harvest as volunteers and as donors. Barbara did everything from stuffing food packs for the Backpack Program to organizing fundraising events. Barbara served for six years on Second Harvest’s board of directors, rising to serve as board chair.

More than 25 years after that first school food drive, Barbara and Rick continue to be indispensable members of the Second Harvest family. “Everybody has their passion and one of my main ones is feeding our hungry neighbors,” Barbara says. “It’s been a labor of love.”

The fact that hunger affects every demographic is one of the main reasons why Barbara chooses to continue volunteering with Second Harvest. “It boggles my mind, the neighbors that struggle with (hunger) daily, weekly, monthly, making a choice on what bills to pay,” she says. Barbara is optimistic and excited about all the ways — old and new — that the food bank serves communities across Middle Tennessee. She hopes to volunteer her time soon with the new Produce Truck, which is basically a farmers’ market on wheels that goes to low-income neighborhoods. “It’s an honor to be involved with Second Harvest,” she says.

Thank you, Barbara, for your longstanding commitment to making sure hungry Tennesseans have access to nutritious food. Your compassion on behalf of your community is truly inspiring.

Get Your 2018 Tax Benefits

Family’s financial plan includes donating stock

You probably know that in most cases, if you’re itemizing your taxes, you can write off charitable contributions. The Parsons family takes it one step further: Their financial planning includes annual stock transfers directly to Second Harvest.

That’s because if you give appreciated stock, you can claim the fair market value of the securities (even if you paid much less for them). And the nonprofit still reaps the full benefit of the stocks’ increased value.

Carey Parsons said he and his wife, Judy, are thankful they can share their financial blessings for such a worthy cause. “It brings us great joy to know that a high percentage of this channel of giving reaches families and children in nearby communities who are at risk of hunger,” he said.

To learn more about donating stock or end-of-year giving, call Marian Eidson at (615) 627-1564.
Veteran Thanks You for Your Gifts

Barry is a survivor. As a U.S. Army veteran, and in everyday life, the 63-year-old has learned to make do with very little. But sometimes, life piles it on.

Right now he’s caring for his 83-year-old mother, he’s struggling to find work, and he just had to replace the aging pipes in his house because they were on the verge of bursting.

But Barry feels lucky because, thanks to the kindness of people like you, his family has enough nutritious food to get through this holiday season.

“Thank you!” Barry says to caring neighbors like you. “It’s a blessing.”

Because of your generous donations, Barry can take home groceries from The Ark Community Resource Center in Pegram, a Partner Agency of Second Harvest. He stops in for food only when he’s in great need.

Barry worked as a construction superintendent up until 2007, but it hasn’t been easy for him to find steady work since then.

Winters are hardest, Barry says. He values the food at The Ark because it helps him stretch his budget to pay other bills. Such as replacing the pipes in his house — an unexpected expense, but a necessary repair before the coming winter.

Barry says the food you help provide to The Ark is a valuable resource for his entire community and reaches many people who need help. He lives in Cheatham County, where 10 percent of residents are food insecure.

Thousands of people like Barry will rely on Second Harvest this holiday season. Thank you for sharing what you have with neighbors who truly need help. Your kindness makes a difference every day in your community!

“Thank you! It’s a blessing.”
When we met Nashville mom Chawnika, and her son Tristan, they were attending a Thanksgiving dinner at the West Nashville Dream Center — a Partner Agency of Second Harvest.

You might find Chawnika sitting down for a meal at the Dream Center with her son — but you’re just as likely to run into her volunteering her time at the Dream Center, serving others.

Chawnika volunteers there weekly — lending a hand at events and in the office — and also attends a luncheon for single mothers every Sunday. At the luncheon — made possible through your gifts — children play and eat while the moms share a meal and receive support and encouragement.

Without the food single mothers receive through your donations, Chawnika says many local moms wouldn’t know where their family’s next meal will come from.

“When you have kids, you can only guess how long the food will last,” Chawnika explains about the struggles some moms face.

But through your gifts, Chawnika says parents have somewhere to get nutritious food for their families while they wait for the next paycheck.

“Thank you!” Chawnika says to you, on behalf of herself, her son, and all of people you help through your commitment to Second Harvest. “You’re doing an amazing job with the kids in this community.”

When you give to Second Harvest, you’re not just filling plates. You’re creating a community of support and fellowship through nutritious meals — and inspiring hardworking parents like Chawnika to give back.

Thank you sincerely for helping local children, families, and seniors this holiday season — and all year long.
